1. Principles and Scope

Hereward College recognises its duty of care to all learners and staff and this policy applies to all learners who receive care and support from Hereward college staff.

This Policy applies to all learners, full and part-time enrolled at the College or any of its subsidiary organisations or collaborative partner institutions. Disciplinary matters related to learners from schools are managed in partnership with the school.

It applies to learner behaviour in all College related activities, on or off site, such as College-arranged transport to and from College, visits and residential visits.

Hereward College holds the belief that positive behaviour management is the key to learner success. This is achieved through:

- Policies and practices designed to recognise individual learner need.
- Individual assessment that includes consideration of individual needs inclusive of all protected characteristics.
- Understanding of the unique and changeable social and environmental context in which a learner lives and functions, which may impact on the way in which they interact with their surroundings.
- On-going development of College staff in order to keep up with changing needs of learners, with access to external professional support and advice, where needed.
- Ensuring that strategies and approaches to supporting positive behaviour are deployed consistently across all sessions and all staff members within college.
- The overall College environment, ensuring that it continues to be a safe and secure place which enables learners to enjoy and achieve.
- Actively developing learners' self-awareness, self-esteem and confidence as a way of promoting positive behaviour and self-respect.
- Ensuring that relevant information is communicated effectively to learners through the use of differentiated and adapted communication strategies and approaches. This will be in line with the individual needs of the learner and requirements outlined within their EHCP documentation.
- Promoting the development of coping strategies such as problem solving and mediation, whilst also reinforcing and actively modelling emotional-self regulation skills as a key approach for managing challenge and/or challenging situations.
- Developing social and emotional awareness and emotional resilience.
- Continual discussion and review of strategies, policies and approaches with input from learners, as required, in order to ensure that support in place remains up to date and relevant to changing student needs.

Hereward College Admissions Panel, in line with the Admissions Policy, carefully considers and assesses the needs of each individual learner against the environment of Hereward and the skills and expertise of the staff team.

Behaviour management within the College is based on the following principles:

- Positive responses to positive behaviours are most powerful in changing behaviour and are the responsibility of all staff. This means that frequent positive feedback for positive behaviour is required, in order to maximise personal growth.
- The frequency and consistency with which sanctions are applied are more important than the severity of the consequence, as is the way in which sanctions are communicated to the learner in order to maximise potential learning opportunities from the intervention.
- It is essential that the student is helped and supported to make clear links between their action and linked consequence (positive and negative, where this approach is used) in order to ensure that the student is able to learn from the experience.
- The need to gain an in-depth understanding of the potential causes of negative behaviour before deciding on an appropriate course of action, for example by taking into account any additional social and/or contextual factors which may impact on the behaviour.
- Inappropriate behaviour can be based upon low self-esteem, poor emotional regulation (particularly relating to stress and anxiety), misunderstanding of social cues/ situations and miscommunication/ poor communication skills. Consequences which are punitive, poorly communicated, too severe, inconsistently applied, and/or not understood, will decrease self-esteem. These combined factors will increase the likelihood that behaviour problems will re-occur and/or worsen.
- Small, manageable consequences, where appropriate, can be applied with a high level of frequency and more consistency. This enables more frequent learning opportunities and more opportunities to successfully modify behaviours. Therefore, a high level of consistency is essential.
- The use of a problem solving based approach where poor behaviour is persistent in order to identify potential drivers relating to behaviour, for example unmet social/ emotional needs and/or communication needs.
- Gaining a shared understanding of a student and their particular social and emotional needs across all staff members through regular communication in order to ensure the constant evolution of approaches and strategies for supporting a given learner.
- As thorough an understanding as possible of the drivers of any poor behaviour. This includes as thorough an understanding as possible of a learner's neurological condition that may be an underlying cause of poor behaviour.
- To work with parents/carers and/or external agencies where possible.

Staff response to physically aggressive behaviour is covered in the 'Use of Reasonable Force Policy'.

2. Behaviour Management System

Framework

The following framework has been developed and used to support the management of behaviour with learners. The system has been incorporated into the learner support and disciplinary procedure to reflect the actions the college takes when responding to learner behaviour.

It is aimed at providing:

- a. A hierarchy of warnings and incident processes which deal with minor incidents and thereby prevent escalation.
- b. A framework within which everyone can operate thereby maximising consistency and therefore effectiveness.
- c. A system which is non-punitive and does not humiliate, but does give clear messages about what is acceptable and unacceptable behaviour.
- d. A structure to deal with Misconduct or Gross Misconduct, where behaviour has fallen below the expectations of the wider College community.
- e. A system which credits learners for positive behaviours that reflect the college values.

Application of College values to positive behaviour

The college has a system of values which inform its expectation of learners. These values are therefore embedded into its behaviour/ reward systems. Credit should be given whenever possible by all members of staff when students demonstrate these behaviours. It is important that they do not turn into a negative sanction (for example when a student has 'not' demonstrated the behaviour or has done the opposite to the positive approach). It may be possible, however, for students to be given credit for demonstrating College values when responding to negative situations, for example by demonstrating honesty or respect when questioned. Staff members should always make explicit the reasons for giving credit for a positive behaviour described below, in the equivalent level of detail as with a negative sanction.

Students will receive credits for demonstrating the behaviours below. This is not an exhaustive list and staff discretion should be exercised at all times when giving credit. Students should understand the value they have demonstrated.

- Independence
 - Arriving on time to college and lessons.
 - Completing work on time.
 - Ensuring that they have all of the equipment and resources that they need.
 - Taking responsibility for themselves.
- Respect
 - Showing care and consideration towards other learners.
 - Respecting and otherwise taking care of college equipment and property.
 - Communicating positively with staff as needed.
 - Demonstrating good manners towards staff and students.
 - Follow college processes and procedures.
 - Leaving classrooms and workstations tidy ready to be used by others.
 - Following staff requests.

- Achievement
 - Demonstrate a high level of effort and perseverance, especially in the face of challenge.
 - Commit fully to learning, for example, by prioritising it above other activities.
 - Actively participate in lessons.
- Honesty
 - Telling the truth when requested, even if this may lead to an unwanted outcome.
 - Sensitively telling other staff and students how they feel.
 - Requesting help when needed.
- Excellence
 - Constantly trying to be the best that they can be.
 - Working hard to improve themselves and their work.
 - Being well presented for learning and work.

Code of Conduct and Learner Agreements

All learners are required to sign a Learner Agreement on enrolment with the College and any breach of this Agreement may be subject to consideration for disciplinary action. The main regulations and obligations of learners with respect to discipline are outlined below. Learners must:

- Use College facilities and behave generally in a way which respects the needs and aspirations of others to learn, teach and live within the community of the College.
- Act at all times with due regard for their own safety and that of others.
- Respect the property of the College, and its staff, and of learners and visitors.
- Support staff and other learners in the maintenance of a clean and tidy environment throughout the College.
- Attend regularly and punctually and inform the relevant member of staff promptly if they are unable to attend a timetabled learning session.
- Comply with the College Code of Conduct and all College policies and procedures, including those pertaining to Safeguarding.

Credits and Warnings System

Credits

All staff can reward learners by awarding credits for the demonstration of positive behaviour at any time, linked to the college values.

Only one credit should be given at any one time by staff.

Credits are recorded on a paper Credit card held by the learner, they should be dated and signed for each entry. Completed Credit cards are collected and the following rewards issued.

Credits

Achievements are recognised in the following way:

10	Bronze Award
30	Silver award
50	Gold Award
70	Principal's award and £10 Voucher

Credits will be counted on a cumulative basis and awards will be given to learners, in the form of a badge and certificate, on a termly basis.

An attendance certificate will be awarded to any learner who achieves an agreed high level of attendance throughout the year (generally 96% or above).

Disciplinary and Warning system

Some learners do not always perform to the best of their ability and this may manifest itself in poor attendance, punctuality, poor work completion rate and non-compliance with deadlines for coursework or assignments. Poor performance may result in the learner failing to achieve their learning goals which may in turn affect the progression opportunities open to them for their future aspirations. In these circumstances the College reserves the right to impose Flexible Supportive Strategies and/or learner performance sanctions upon those learners whose performance falls below the College's high expectations of its learners.

In any disciplinary situation where a learner has been threatened, bullied or intimidated, apart from any actions taken through this procedure, the College will provide additional support to enable the learner concerned to deal with their situation.

Stage 1: The Warning System

Any member of staff can issue a warning for behaviour they feel falls below College expectations. Warnings are designed to be a stop think strategy not a sanction in themselves. The purpose of a warning is to alert the student to the fact that their behaviour is falling below expectations and to prevent escalation of behaviour. This will not be achieved through the punitive method of issuing a warning as a threat, but rather as part of a discussion which clearly identifies to the student what is going wrong and what the student can do to put it right.

On occasions this conversation may not be appropriate in the moment, for example if the student has become highly distressed. In this situation, removal from the situation and a quiet time out space is often more appropriate to de-escalate.

Discussion around the behaviour and expectations and warnings can be returned to once the student has calmed and is able to hear and discuss the incident. It is important where warnings are required they are issued by the member of staff who dealt with the incident first hand.

Examples of behaviour and approach to learning which can lead to warnings:

- anti-social behaviour, including verbal
- persistent poor timekeeping
- inability to follow instructions/classroom rules/residential rules
- leaving site without permission
- damage to property
- bullying/threatening others

Any warning given must be entered on to the Incident Log on Databridge, (see guidelines for recording Appendix 7) with details of the behaviour and the consequence so that this can be monitored by the MD Team. If a learner has been given a total of three warnings, or MDT agree the incident warrants, the learner will be expected to attend a Learner Incident meeting – see disciplinary policy and procedures.

These lists are not exhaustive and staff should use their common sense in the implementation of the warning system.

More serious incidents or repeated incidents of unacceptable behaviour will be dealt with through the Learner Disciplinary procedures.

Time out from College

It may be appropriate on some occasions to ask learners not to attend College following an incident(s). This can either be done as part of their behaviour support plan, or as a response to a specific incident(s). The purpose of this time out period is to allow a “cooling off” period and to give staff and learners time to reflect and plan. It may be that the ‘Fitness to Study Policy and Procedure’ is evoked at this stage.

Any time out period will usually last for one to two days (unless there are exceptional circumstances) and can only be agreed if a member of SLT agrees this is the right course of action. Any periods of time out will not be treated as part of the formal disciplinary process or as a suspension period.

4. Monitoring of Learner Incidents and Concerns

It is anticipated that the majority of incidents will be dealt with informally through discussion, in tutorials, weekly support meetings, Pathway meetings and by the use of the warning system.

Learner Incident Meeting

More serious incidents or repeated concerns will be dealt with through a learner incident meeting, which will normally take place within two days of the incident. This meeting will be chaired by an Operational manager, who is the most relevant to the incidents that have occurred. The meeting will discuss concerns/incidents with the learner, and are not part of the formal disciplinary process.

The meeting will also agree targets for improvement and set a timescale for a review of these targets.

If at the review stage, targets have been achieved, no further action will be required. If targets have not been achieved, further reviews may be held, or if concerns are serious enough, a learner may be referred on to the formal disciplinary procedures.

5. Stage 2 Disciplinary Policy and Procedures

General Principles

In the event that the learner fails to attend any disciplinary meeting or hearing, without good reason, the Chair of the meeting may decide that the hearing should proceed in the learner's absence.

The College retains the right to vary any time limits set out in this procedure or to adjourn any hearing if circumstances require.

This procedure may also be varied if required as a reasonable adjustment for a particular learner's disability.

All correspondence, minutes of meetings and record of disciplinary penalties will be scanned onto the learner's programme folder.

6. Misconduct

The following are examples of misconduct which may result in disciplinary action being taken against learners:

- Any breach of the Learner Agreement.
- Any failure to follow the reasonable instructions of a member of staff.
- Verbal or physical abuse of learners, staff and/or governors of the College.
- Racial or sexual harassment, sexual misconduct or general indecent behaviour including peer on peer abuse.
- Theft or illegal removal of College's or other persons' property, or damaging or defacing such property.
- Misconduct or dishonesty during examinations or assessments, plagiarism, forgery or fraud.
- Drunkenness, alcohol and drug use or possession or trafficking on College premises.
- Any bullying, harassment, intimidation, taunting, verbal abuse or the use of any violence or threat of violence towards any person, or behaviour which is offensive to those with learning and/or physical disabilities or impairments.
- Any behaviour which could bring the College into disrepute outside of the College.
- Any act which may have an adverse effect on the work of the College or on other learners or staff.
- Cumulative breaches of College regulations of a more minor nature.

This list is not exhaustive and may include other incidents of misconduct deemed a threat to a learner's education or welfare, or to the proper functioning of the College.

7. Serious Misconduct

Any particularly grave cases of misconduct may be treated as serious misconduct. For example, any incident involving violence or threat of violence; any incident that is contrary to, or interferes with, the College's responsibility for safeguarding young people and adults at risk; deliberate or reckless damage to property;

endangering the health or safety of themselves or others; any criminal activity that may affect the College or other learners; or any activity/incident which may bring the College into disrepute, are likely to be treated as incidents of serious misconduct.

Further misconduct by a learner who has already received a verbal warning, a written warning or a final written warning through a formal disciplinary process may also be treated as serious misconduct.

It must be emphasised that this is not an exhaustive list of the types of case which the College may treat as serious misconduct. Any bullying which takes place via social media will be considered as bullying and treated as such.

8. Criminal Offences

In cases (internal or external to the College) where the police have been involved, a learner may be suspended from College at the discretion of any Vice Principal, pending the outcome of any police investigation (please refer to section 10). The matter for which the learner has been arrested and its relevance to the College will be taken into account where consideration is given to suspension. The period of suspension may be extended until the conclusion of any legal proceedings and/or internal disciplinary proceedings, including any appeal.

Where alleged misconduct would also constitute a criminal offence, the College shall have the discretion to continue action under these procedures but such action may be deferred pending any police investigation or prosecution.

9. Penalties for Misconduct

A range of penalties are open to the College, such as a verbal warning, a written warning, a final written warning, financial penalty, recompense for damage caused or loss of privileges which are felt to be appropriate to misconduct proven.

In the case of serious misconduct, there is the possibility of a fixed term or permanent exclusion from the College. It is understood that exclusion is to be considered the ultimate sanction and only to be used in the most serious circumstances. Alternative sanctions will be fully considered before a decision to exclude is made.

10. Suspension Pending Disciplinary Action for Alleged Serious Misconduct

Suspension can be carried out by a Vice Principal, the Care and Independence Services Manager, a Curriculum Manager or the Manager of the SEDD department. The person, who suspends, in the event they are not a Vice Principal, must notify the onsite Vice Principal so that they are aware of the incident and can confirm the suspension.

A learner may be suspended with immediate effect where it is considered that the learner may have committed, or been party to, an incident of serious misconduct or where their continued presence on College grounds would pose a risk to themselves, other learners or staff. The learner will be informed verbally of the suspension, where practicable, and it will be confirmed in writing as soon as possible, providing details of the allegation made against the learner. The learner has the right to make a verbal representation to the Vice Principal before a decision to suspend is made, or in writing after the suspension has been made.

The learner will remain suspended until the conclusion of the disciplinary investigation and any appeal, unless the Vice Principal decides otherwise. The investigation will be undertaken as quickly as possible to minimise disruption to learning.

The person who suspends must:

- Ask the learner to write their account of the incident before leaving the premises, if possible, or to send it to the Vice Principal as soon as possible.
- Ask witnesses to write their accounts straight away.
- Check arrangements by which the learner will leave the premises / travel home.
- Ensure that the learner's parent / carer / guardian or other appropriate adult, are informed of the suspension and continue to liaise, as necessary.
- Arrange for a standard suspension letter to be sent to the learner and copied to other parties as referred to in Appendix 1.

During the period of suspension the College will carry out an investigation into the circumstance of any allegation made. The period of suspension will not prejudice any subsequent disciplinary proceedings. The learner will be informed of the outcome of the investigation, in writing, within fifteen (15) learner attendance days of the date of suspension. This period may be extended and notification to the learner must be undertaken immediately.

11. Disciplinary Hearings

Any allegation of misconduct or serious misconduct which cannot be dealt with through the Behaviour management system or Learner Incident meeting, will be fully investigated irrespective of whether a learner has been suspended or not. The Vice Principal responsible will select an Investigating Officer, to conduct an investigation and collate the evidence, including witness statements. The Investigating Officer will be required to write a report, detailing the allegation(s), the evidence in support of and against the learner and make a recommendation as to whether there is a case to answer. The Investigating Officer must forward their report and evidence to the Vice Principal within a maximum of ten (10) learner attendance days of the date the matter was referred for investigation (see Appendix 5).

If the Investigating Officer believes there is a case to answer, a Disciplinary hearing will be arranged and the learner concerned will be given at least five (5) learner attendance days' notice to attend (see Appendix 2).

This hearing is the learner's opportunity to put forward their version of events, their defence and /or any mitigating circumstances that they wish to be taken into account. The learner will be entitled to be accompanied at the hearing by a family member, friend or member of staff.

The hearing will be chaired by a Vice Principal and the Investigating Officer will present the evidence relating to the allegation.

The learner will be informed in writing, within three (3) learner attendance days of the outcome of the hearing and any penalties imposed in accordance with section 9 of this document.

An action plan will be completed and a review date set to ensure behaviour expectations continue to be met. This action plan will be reviewed by the Vice Principal who conducted the original hearing and the key staff involved with the learner. Parents/key carers will be informed of the outcome of this review.

All disciplinary records will be held in the Principal's Office and be subject to the college process on retention of records.

12. Appeal against a Penalty Other than Exclusion

An appeal against a penalty other than exclusion should be made in writing to the Principal within five (5) learner attendance days of notification of the decision. The appeal will be allocated to another Vice Principal who has had no previous dealings with the disciplinary matter and who will review the disciplinary file. A rehearing will not normally be granted unless the Vice Principal believes there to be a defect in the procedure.

The learner will be informed of the Vice Principal's decision in writing, within three (3) learner attendance days of acknowledgement by the College of the appeal. The Vice Principal shall have the power to confirm, annul or vary the outcome of the original disciplinary hearing but not to increase the penalty.

13. Appeal against Exclusion

An appeal against a fixed term or permanent exclusion must be addressed to the Principal within five (5) learner attendance days of receipt of notification of the decision to exclude. A panel will be convened, within ten (10) learner attendance days, comprised of the Principal, a Vice Principal (but not the Vice Principal who originally heard the case) and a College manager to review the case by holding a hearing which the learner is entitled to attend. This will not normally be a full rehearing unless the panel decides this is necessary.

The learner will be entitled to be accompanied at the appeal by a family member, friend or member of staff.

The excluded learner (or their advocate) will be asked to explain why he/she believes the disciplinary decision was wrong.

The Vice Principal whose decision is the subject of the appeal will then explain to the panel the basis on which the decision to exclude was reached.

The panel will then ask any party any questions relevant to the appeal.

The panel will inform the learner of their decision in writing within two (2) learner attendance days.

14. Data Protection

All records and supporting evidence will be processed and stored in accordance with General Data Protection Regulations May 2018.

Appendix 7 Recording incidents on Databridge; Guidance notes

Background

The College uses Databridge to track and monitor incidents across the college which fall into the following categories:

- Anti-Social behaviour
- Bullying
- E safety
- Missing person
- Non compliance
- Personal safety
- Physical aggression
- Verbal aggression

There is also a category for information to share relevant facts with colleagues that are important to ensure appropriate support and interventions with students.

Recording

All staff have been given training on Good Practice in recording through their Team teach sessions.

As a brief reminder staff are asked to consider the following:

In order to support the management of behaviour, records should cover the following:

- ABC of recording...antecedents (triggers) : What, when, where the incident occurred
- Behaviour: what did you actually see happen, what behaviour was displayed
- Consequences: What action you take at the time. (Were warnings issued, follow up meeting arranged?)

The Incident recording form has been structure to allow recording to be as straightforward as possible.

When recording please remember:

- All relevant information must be recorded
- Records must be written in plain English and prejudice must be avoided
- Records must be accurate and adequate
- Records must clearly distinguish between statements of fact and opinion
- Records must be timely
- Include names and witnesses
- Include a clear description of the incident and add any actions you have taken and warnings issued
- Update the record if you carry out further action at a later date
- CLOSE Out the incident record when appropriate

To record an incident:

- Log on to Databridge WEB
- Select Ev.Log/patterns from the left menu
- Select Add event
- Complete the form
- Select staff members you wish to alert to the issue if any
- Save Changes

In the OTHERS involved section, only add other students if they have equal responsibility for the incident and require follow up in relation to this.

If they have been impacted on by the incident, eg, student A throws something and students B,C,D were in the room, please do not record these students as involved. Record the names of these students in the body of the text.

If you are recording for information, there is no close out section on the form.

If you are recording under any of the categories detailed in the first section of this guidance please continue and complete the full form.

Rate the incident: Low, medium, high in relation to the severity.

If a warning has been issued tick the warning box and close the incident out with the relevant date.

Wherever possible incidents should be closed out and dealt with at the time, or within a reasonable time frame by the staff who have witnessed the event.

When you take any further action relating to an incident at a later date, return to the original record and complete the follow up box, do not generate another incident.

What happens to the information you record?

The Databridge incident log is reviewed daily by key managers.

It is reviewed weekly alongside the CPOMs log and Risk assessments for students at the Multi-disciplinary team meeting.

This group will agree any further action that may be required and inform staff through scheduled college meetings.

A summary report is produced termly for managers on incidents to examine any developing trends and impact of interventions.

Databridge is for recording incidents and is accessible to all college staff, Safeguarding concerns should be logged on CPOMs.
